BTEC Extended Certificate in Protective Services

This work is linked to Unit 2 Behaviour and Discipline in the Uniformed Protective Services which you will study in Year 12.

Within this unit you will study the types of self-discipline required to be an effective member in a protective service. The first required piece of knowledge are the various qualities and activities of self-discipline that are essential in the services. You are required to research and write a report on a Word document (4 sides of A4, size 12 font).

1. Begin with an introduction on what self-discipline is and why it is important in the protective services.....
2. Describe each of the qualities/activities below and explain why they are important / needed (use a sub heading for each one) and use examples from the protective services:

Drill - standing to attention, marching, saluting...

Personal appearance - wearing uniforms, looking smart and professional...

Punctuality - being on time...

Attendance - not being absent for duty...

Personal conduct / behaviour - on or off duty...

Time management - meeting deadlines...

Composure - keeping calm in challenging and dangerous situations...

3. Conclusion – explain your own current levels of self-discipline and make comparisons to the levels required in the services

Describe - Give a clear description that includes all the relevant features - think of it as 'painting a picture with words'

Explain - Set out in detail the meaning of something, with reasons. More difficult than describe or list, so it can help to give an example to show what you mean. Start by introducing the topic then give the 'how' or 'why'

To complete both tasks use the Internet to conduct your research and in particular use the different uniformed protective services websites.

A reminder that your completed work needs to be handed in on the first day of term, this shows your level of commitment to the course.
